Work Schedule and Accountability

Work Schedule

Your work schedule is created each semester based on your availability and is subject to change. Once you have your schedule it becomes your responsibility to attend. Any changes need to be discussed with your manager, immediate schedule changes are not guaranteed.

Employees are expected to have access to WhenToWork via phone or desktop browser to access their schedule. All employees are responsible for knowing their scheduled times and locations.

Shifts are only offered during the academic year (summers as available) and are based on your schedule and the schedule needs of your building. You will be asked to provide your availability before the start of each new semester.

Working during finals week during the academic year is a condition of employment, Each facility has their own add/drop shift policy for this week.

If you have a shift during a University Holiday that we are open, you are responsible for that shift.

Attendance and Absence Policy

Don't be late! If you are running late (more than 7 minutes), it is your responsibility to call and speak to management to inform them.

If you are unable to work a scheduled shift due to personal reasons, you must actively find someone to work the shift(s) you are unable to work. Actively means speaking with co-workers, messaging via your facilities designated messaging app, and using WhenToWork tradeboard until you find a cover for your shift.

Religious holidays observed by hourly employees or mandatory university required functions will be accommodated if notice of at least two weeks prior to the scheduled shift is communicated to a Manager. A manager may require documentation from the director or organizer of the university sanctioned event. Failure to do so will require the student to find a substitute for their scheduled shifts that are within those dates.

If you have an emergency, please call and speak with a Student Manager, Assistant Manager, or General Manager within 24 hours.

If you are feeling sick, you must call and speak with a manager a minimum of two (2) hour prior to your shift. We ask you still try to find a substitute. If you experience a prolonged (missing 3 or more days) illness, continue to inform a manager on an on-going basis and actively seek substitutes. A physician's statement is required for any absence from work of more than three consecutive workdays or shifts. Sick time cannot be used for pay periods that have already been closed.

As an employee, you accrue one hour paid sick leave for every 30 hours of work (click for more details, including what sick time can be used for). You can use that accrued time in 15 minute increments during a shift you are sick and you do not need to actively seek a substitute ONLY for time that can be covered by the leave. You must still call in and inform a manager when sick and request to use your sick time.

How to Call In

Call and speak with a full-time staff member, manager, or supervisor of your building at least 2 hours prior to your scheduled shift at your work location. Managers have discretion based on their operations to allow other methods.

How NOT to call in:

- When2Work messaging
- Not utilizing the proper call in numbers and not speaking with a Student Manager, or Manager
- Calling or texting personal numbers
- Anything that is not calling via phone to your units phone.
- Social Media

Accountability Policy

We rely on you being here! Every team member is expected to do so and follow the rules on the job. Points can be given by any manager for different infractions, see the chart on the next page (19) for a detailed list and point values.

Steps

- Managers will have discretion for the nature of each incident, the frequency of the violation, and your overall employment record. Managers have the right to dismiss employment at any time.
- Employees will be notified when they receive any points.
- Once an employee reaches 6 points over the course of the semester, the employee will be removed from the schedule and voluntary-terminated. The employee will be contacted via phone and an email and may be ineligible for a future reference.
- Points reset to zero for all returning employees the following semester who remain in good standing. Employee who are not in good standing (greater than 3 points) may have their points carry over into the next semester.

Statement of Ethical Principles and Standards

The students and staff of Colorado State University's Housing and Dining Services Department are a multicultural community of individuals. We strive to work together and learn from one another in a positive atmosphere. Please respect all people regardless of age, physical ability, national origin, sexual orientation, sexual identity, race, gender or religious affiliation.

Sexual Harassment

Sexual harassment is unlawful and unacceptable conduct, which undermines the integrity of the employment relationship. Sexual harassment will not be tolerated whether such harassment is directed toward fellow employees or the public.

Because of differences in employees' values and backgrounds, some individuals may find it difficult to recognize their own behavior as sexual harassment. Moreover, some who are being harassed may not understand or appreciate their right to be protected from such behavior.

Sexual harassment is defined as harassment that is of an implicitly or overtly sexual nature, or is based on a person's actual or perceived sex, gender, sexual orientation, gender identity, or gender expression. Sexual harassment, including sexual assault, can involve persons of the same or different sex, and includes any unwelcome sexual advance, request for sexual favors, or other conduct of a sexual nature.

It is the responsibility of all personnel to report any activities of sexual harassment.

All CSU employees and volunteers including faculty, staff, and students acting in their employment or volunteer roles, are mandatory reporters of any violations or alleged violations of sexual harassment, sexual misconduct, domestic violence, dating violence, stalking, and retaliation involving students through one or more of the following resources:

It is important to respect the work schedule and not take a break without prior approval from a manager or supervisor. Your break should not exceed the allotted time and cannot be used to shorten your day or cover tardiness at the beginning of your shift.

Workers Compensation and Unemployment

As a state employee, you are automatically insured under the Worker's Compensation Act for injuries sustained in the course of your employment.

If an employee requests an accommodation in the workplace, direct them to the Office of Equal Opportunity. OEO contact information is: oeo@colostate.edu, 970-491-5836, <https://oeo.colostate.edu/>.

It is your responsibility to immediately report an accident occurring at work to your supervisor and seek treatment within 72 hours, in accordance with the prescribed rules and regulations of the State of Colorado. Late reporting will affect compensation benefits. A designated care provider must treat any on-the-job injury to be eligible for Worker's Compensation. Worker's Compensation will not pay for care given by an unauthorized carrier. See Workers Compensation Website for more details.

Student Employees are not entitled to State Unemployment Insurance through Colorado State University.

Reasonable Workspace Accommodations

Workplace accommodations must be communicated to managers.

Employees who require reasonable accommodations will need to obtain verified documentation from The Office of Equal Opportunity and/or the Student Disability Center. Reasonable accommodations will be based on the determination of those offices.

Accommodations that require physical restrictions will require a doctors/physicians note and will be accommodated only during the set time period by the doctor/physician.

Substance Abuse

The State of Colorado has a vital interest in maintaining a safe, healthful and efficient working environment for its employees, clients, and the public. Employees impaired by alcohol or other drugs during work hours may pose safety and health risks, not only to themselves, but also to others.

Therefore, to ensure a safe working environment, it is the policy of the State of Colorado that use of alcohol, other drugs, or controlled substances that results in job impairment is prohibited. Likewise, it is the policy of the State of Colorado that illegal possession, manufacture, use, sale, or transfer of a controlled substance on state property or during work hours by its employees is prohibited.

Violations of this policy will be cause for management intervention that may result in referral to mandatory treatment and/or to corrective or disciplinary actions up to and including termination.

Tobacco Policy

Colorado State University seeks to provide an environment that is conducive to learning and that promotes the health and well-being of all who access its grounds, buildings and services. Use of tobacco and other substances by smoking or vaping has proven to be harmful not only to one's own health, but to the health of others. In addition, chewing and sniffing tobacco have been shown to cause oral and other cancers, are addictive, and can lead to unsanitary conditions that affect others.

Smoking, vaping, chewing, etc. of any substance, all uses of tobacco, and the sale of tobacco and other substances meant for smoking are prohibited in all buildings and on all grounds owned, leased, or controlled by CSU, including, but not limited to, green spaces, courtyards, breezeways, terraces, stairways and access ramps, outdoor plazas and patios, underpasses and recreational facilities and fields, roadways, walkways, sidewalks, and pick-up and drop-off points for campus and public bus transportation.

All smoking, vaping and all forms of tobacco are prohibited in all vehicles owned, leased or rented by the University, or any vehicle that is on the premises of CSU property.

CSU offers certain resources to its students, faculty and staff, resources to assist them with cessation of tobacco use (see the CSU Tobacco Free website). The CSU Health Network provides smoking cessation coaching to students. CSU's health plans for employees offer smoking cessation counseling and prescription drugs (referral may be required).

Safety + Guidelines

The following are general guidelines that apply to all RDS employees, working in any dining service unit, bakeshop, storeroom, or off-site event. It is your responsibility to learn and follow all procedures.

Most accident injuries that occur in food service operations are cuts, slips/falls, and sprains/strains. Using common sense and observing the following procedures can prevent most accidents.

Slippery Floors/Stairs

Wet floors are everyone's responsibility because they are hazardous; even a small spill can cause an accident. Spills should be cleaned up immediately and 'Wet Floor' signs used. Wear shoes with a slip resistant sole and exercise caution when walking on a wet floor. Be sure that mats are placed in the appropriate places to prevent slips and falls.

Kitchen/Dining Room Fire Procedures

First and foremost, get out of the building! If the fire alarm has not already sounded, the General Manager/acting supervisor will activate the fire alarm or have someone else activate the alarm.

During your location specific orientation, your manager will show you the evacuation plan for your building and where to go in case of an emergency. If you don't know, ask and get out of the building!

Follow procedures when fire alarm sounds and then evacuate to designated assembly areas (see Assembly Area Map posted in your unit). You must check-in with your supervisor to ensure they know you have evacuated the building. Never return to the building unless told to do so!

Lifting Safely

- 1 Keep the object being lifted close to your body
- 2 Lift from a crouch, with your knees bent
- 3 Keep your back straight and nearly vertical

TIPS

- Legs are your strongest muscles; use them to lift, not your arms or back muscles!
- Be sure of solid footing
- Do not twist your body, lift slowly and steadily
- Get help if an object is too heavy for you to lift safely
- Use carts or other mobile equipment to move heavy objects
- Do not lift items that are uncomfortably heavy from above your head

Severe Weather Emergency Procedures

Occasionally, the University will close during inclement weather. While offices on campus are closed and classes are canceled, our dining centers will remain open to assure all students that live on campus have the ability to eat in our facilities.

We expect you to show up when a closure occurs and you're scheduled to work. If there is a significant danger or you have difficulty commuting to work, immediately contact the dining center to discuss arrangements.

Age Restriction Policy

The working age restrictions for Residential Dining Services are as follows:

- Individuals must be at least 16 years old to work for Residential Dining Service.
- Individuals must be at least 18 years old to operate motorized and hazardous equipment, including but not limited to: baking equipment, powered food slicers, grinders, kettles, fryers, etc.

Minors (between the ages of 16-18) are subject to the following work hours restrictions:

- Minors cannot work more than 40 hours per week or more than 8 hours within a 24-hour period
- Minors cannot work between the hours of 9:30PM and 5:00AM unless the next day is not a school day.

Other Emergency Procedures

Active Shooter Situations

Run, Hide, Fight! While we never hope to be confronted with a situation like this, always be prepared and trust your instincts when making a decision about the action you take and keep yourself safe above others. All full time staff have gone through active assailant training for your building, look to them to guide you in these situations.

Run: If you are in a building get out if possible.

Hide: if you can't get out find a suitable place of concealment.

Fight: As a LAST resort only, be prepared to fight off the attacker using any object as a weapon.

Food Safety

AND SANITATION POLICIES

It is your responsibility to practice good food safety & sanitation practices. Our priority is to keep everyone safe.

Knife Safety

The most important rule is – NEVER CUT TOWARD ANY PART OF YOUR HAND OR BODY. To eliminate most accidental knife cuts:

- Keep knives sharp.
- Use a gripped cutting board to reduce slipping.
- If a knife falls, do not grab for it - get out of the way.
- Let coworkers know if you are walking behind them with a knife.
- Always carry a knife close to your side with the blade facing backwards, pointed down.
- When navigating the kitchen yell SHARP when rounding corners.
- Use a cutting board and direct your full attention to the knife; avoid distractions.

Before handling a knife, be sure to go over the proper knife use and safety checklist with a supervisor or full-time staff member.

Disposable gloves are provided and must be worn by any employee directly handling food products.

Gloves are required if you are handling cooked and ready to eat foods or foods being prepared for cooking.
Gloves are not to be worn while on break, eating, drinking, smoking, coughing, sneezing, using the restroom, etc.
Gloves are to be changed often, including after you leave your work station or touch unsanitized work surfaces.

Wash and re-glove your hands at frequent intervals to avoid cross-contamination. Remember that gloves can be contaminated just like hands and should be changed often. If you cut your hand or finger, cover the cut with a bandage, finger cot and glove before returning to work.

Discard and change your gloves:

Anytime you touch an unsanitary surface, i.e. hair, apron, garbage, etc.
Anytime you touch your face, body, phone, cross your arms, etc.
After handling raw meats or eggs and before handling any other foods.
The glove becomes punctured or torn.
After 2 hours of continuous work.
Anytime you leave your work area.

Critical Temperatures

Every employee must know required temperatures and times for the safe cooking, refrigerated storage, hot holding, cooling, and re-heating of potentially hazardous food:

- Food that is being “held” is food that is temporarily in hot or cold storage and is waiting to be served.
- Cold foods should be held at 41 ° F or below. Hot foods should be held at temperatures at 135 °F or above. Those temperatures between those are called the Danger Zone (41° F – 135° F).
- After a holding period, any hot food intended to be used the next day must be chilled quickly (within 6 hours) by using shallow pans, vents, air circulation, and/or a cold-water bath. Foods must be cooled from 135-70 within 2 hours and 70-41 within an additional 4 hours.
- Leftovers requiring re-heating must be quickly reheated to an internal temperature of 165 degrees F for 15 seconds. Foods may only be reheated one time. Each food service unit maintains daily records (charts) of critical temperatures for foods, equipment, and holding areas.
- If foods are found to be in the unsafe temperature range, notify a shift leader immediately. Please refer to a student supervisor or classified employee about leftover procedures for specific foods.

TIME AND TEMPERATURE

Time and temperature are a perfect food safety pair. Because to reduce pathogens in food to safe levels, you have to cook the food to its correct minimum internal cooking temperature then hold the food at this temperature for a specific amount of time.

Minimum Cooking Temperatures

165° (74° C) for 15 seconds

- Poultry—including whole or ground chicken, turkey, or duck.
- Stuffing made with fish, meat, or poultry.
- Stuffed meat, seafood, poultry, or pasta.
- Dishes that include previously cooked TCS (Temperature Controlled for Safety) ingredients.

155° (68° C) for 15 seconds

- Ground meat—including beef, pork, and other meat.
- Injected meat-including brined ham and flavor-injected roasts.
- Mechanically tenderized meat.
- Ratites—including ostrich and emu.
- Ground seafood—including chopped or minced seafood.
- Shell eggs that will be hot-held for service.
- Ground meat from game animals commercially raised and inspected.

145° (63° C) for 15 seconds

- Seafood—including fish, shell fish, and crustaceans.
- Steaks/chops of pork, beef, veal, and lamb.
- Commercially raised game.
- Shell eggs that will be served immediately.

145° (63° C) for 4 minutes

- Roasts of pork, beef, veal, and lamb.

135° (57° C) No minimum time

- Food from plants, fruit, vegetables, grains, (e.g., rice, pasta) and legumes (e.g., beans, refried beans) that will be hot-held for service.

SIMPLE STEPS TO MAKE TAKING TEMPERATURES PART OF YOUR OPERATION:

- Having calibrated thermometers readily available.
- Modeling correct behaviors.
- Giving positive reinforcement.
- Identifying corrective action.
- Conducting training and retraining when necessary.

Food Handling and Storage

- Use gloves when directly handling ready to eat foods
- Cover, label, and date all foods
- Always label any product that is in an unmarked container
- Know and follow the safe food temperatures
- Do not store cleaning or chemical solutions near or above food products.
Store below counter level and isolate from other food products.

Hand Washing

The number one thing you can do to prevent food-borne illness is to wash your hands for at least 20 seconds!

Wash your hands every time you leave your work area and every time you touch an un-sanitized work surface, i.e. no picking, scratching or digging.

HOW TO:

- 1 Wet your hands and arms with running warm water.
- 2 Apply enough soap to build up a good lather.
- 3 Vigorously scrub hands and arms for at least 10-15 seconds. Clean the finger tips, under fingernails, and between fingers.
- 4 Rinse hands & arms thoroughly under running warm water.
- 5 Dry hands & arms with a single use paper towel or hand dryer. Use a paper towel to turn off the faucet. If leaving the restroom, use a paper towel to open the door.

WHEN TO WASH YOUR HANDS?

Be sure to wash your hands BEFORE you handle food or begin any food-related task, but also you should wash your hands AFTER these activities:

- Handling raw meat, poultry and seafood.
- Using the restroom.
- Touching your hair, face, body, clothes, or apron.
- Sneezing, coughing, or using a tissue.
- Smoking, eating, drinking or chewing gum.
- Using chemicals that may affect the safety of food.
- Emptying or taking out the trash.
- Washing dirty dishes.
- Handling money or making change.

FOOD SAFETY STARTS WITH

FOOD SAFETY @ CSU HOUSING AND DINING

Wash your hands frequently and when in contact with outside germs; i.e. after touching your phone, face, hair, after using the bathroom, eating, drinking, or smoking, or handling raw foods.

Food Allergies

As food service employees one of our biggest responsibilities is to prevent cross- contact amongst foods. Customers and fellow employees rely on you to give accurate information when it comes to allergies and food preferences within the foods that we serve.

At each dining center, for each menu item, we label the items that contain the Top 9 Allergens, gluten, and cross-contact risk. Because even the smallest amount of one of these ingredients can cause a reaction, it is important to recognize these labels and be aware of allergens! Recipes are made available at each station that list ingredients and cooking methods for you to reference.

When in doubt about allergens or ingredients, ask a supervisor or full-time staff member! Do NOT be pretty sure, be 100% sure before you answer a question!

Eat Well @CSU

Colorado State Residential Dining Service utilize the Eat Well @CSU Program to identify certain allergens and nutritional information to our guests. Familiarize yourself with these labels, and ensure that you always know what you are serving!
